

Performance Training Institute CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Attendance Calls:

If your student support specialist notices that you have not logged into class for a few days, they will call and/or email you to make sure everything is OK. Do not let a couple days go by without logging into class. Logging in on a consistent basis helps students complete all of the assignments by the Sunday at midnight deadline. Students are able to get the most out of their career training when attending and participating in the many activities available in the classroom.
