Well Check Calls:

We like to keep in contact with all of our students throughout their time here at Performance Training Institute. One solution to keep our lines of communication open is our well check calls.

We might call to simply say hello, ask how things are going, or to check in to see if you need anything. We ask students to feel free to call their Student Support Advisors if they need anything at all; however, some students find they don't need much throughout their time here.
